

SECOND UNION SERVICE HELD

Meeting at First Methodist Church Addressed by Rev. Pinkerton.

"THE VISION" HIS THEME INTEREST IN REVIVAL WORK APPEARS ON INCREASE.

Rev. T. W. Pinkerton, pastor of the Central Christian church, addressed a large gathering last night at the union service held in the First Methodist church. The attendance last evening was in excess of Monday's services, there being a growing interest, apparently, in the union church work. The speaker's text was taken from Luke, 9:28-35 and his theme, "The Vision." Rev. Mr. Pinkerton said in part: "No man ever became effective in Christian service until he has a vision. (1) A vision of God and a vision of man. This vision is essential in order that life may be deepened, widened and uplifted. For the accomplishment of greater results we must get away from individualism and think and feel and act with intensity. We need a vision of God's majesty and power. One faith for the infinite and eternal. He that hath created all things is in touch with our lives, mighty to save. Vision of His Character. (2) "Our God is a God of character. Holy and reverent is his name. Seeing him, the white light of his purity, we are lifted above the sordid, and yearn for his perfection. (3) "His purpose. We greatly miss, if we think there are no purposes, fixed and definite. "Through the ages one increasing purpose seems: To realize and in harmony with the infinite and bring peace. (4) "His love. To know the love of God, whatever of man's God sustains to his children, this we know—he loves us. His heart is always turned to man. Means of Visions. "How shall we get these visions? Not in dreams or impressions, but in at least four ways: (1) In the grandeur and splendor and purity of the world in which we live; (2) The Bible. The Bible is a revelation of the story of man's endeavor to find God and interpret him; (3) In the life and character of Jesus Christ. He that hath seen me hath seen the father. Christ is God making himself known; (4) In living the life of God ourselves. Living a life of purity and of love. The spirit of God dwelling in us helps us to interpret all. "These are the transforming powers of life, and we receive them for the vision of man. No man comes to see God without seeing himself and his brother man. The call is made, who has been in the mountains of vision hears the call from the valley below and goes down to succor and to save. Rev. J. C. McCallin presided at yesterday noon's prayer meeting.

UNCLE SAM HAS NEW RULE Requires Persons Taking Orders For Bottled Beer to Procure Dealers' Licenses. By a new ruling of the United States internal revenue department at Washington, persons delivering beer at residences on orders of customers are to be classed as unlicensed vendors. Uncle Sam has a habit of finding fault with the way things are done. The ruling is: A liquor dealer who travels with orders and wagon, receiving written orders for bottled beer, taking these orders to his place of business, and delivering it to the person who has given him orders there, is not a dealer, but a messenger. If he takes the bottled beer to his place of business as the property, absolutely and unconditionally, he is a dealer. If he has ordered it, and took it directly from that place to the purchaser and made delivery without any condition as to payment, it is a dealer. If he is a dealer, it is understood that the ruling applies to wines, whiskies and brandies. The internal revenue officers contend that under this ruling, it is necessary for the person delivering liquors to get his pay by procuring a license, a wholesale and retail license for his place of business, and a license for each order direct from the store to the customer and must be the identical goods, bottles and paid for at the store. If he is a dealer, it is given away or sold to a neighbor the liquor business without a license. Should the customer be a dealer, he is likely to be hauled into court to testify against the man who sold him the wet goods.

NASON RALLIES SLIGHTLY Railroad Man is Still in Critical Condition—Few Hours Will Tell.

At a late hour last night Harry Winchester Nason, assistant city passenger and ticket agent, who had been slightly injured by the release he suffered yesterday morning and there is some reason to believe that the end was momentarily expected. He is still in an extremely critical stage and at midnight it was said that a few hours at the most would indicate the result. Dr. J. M. Dart is attending Mr. Nason. Nason has a large circle of friends in Salt Lake and Ogden, having been stationed as ticket agent in the junction city for several years. He was filled his present position since 1897. Mr. Nason is a nephew of W. H. Bancroft, vice president of the Oregon Short Line and the Salt Lake route. Mr. Bancroft is speeding away from the coast.

DEALS TO SETTLE SCHETTLER CASE

Two Propositions Made Regarding Former Banker's Affairs.

MATTER TO COME UP BEFORE REFEREE THIS MORNING.

A report was current yesterday to the effect that B. H. Schettler, the bankrupt banker, was to come out of all his difficulties by means of a compromise with his creditors. The propositions may come up this morning at a meeting of the creditors at the office of C. B. Baldwin, the referee appointed by Judge John A. Marshall. As a matter of fact there are two propositions on foot for the consideration of the creditors and general creditors. The first is that all creditors shall be withdrawn and that Schettler's sons and his wives shall be allowed to retain their homes in peace. In other words, Receiver R. F. Anderson shall withdraw his suits, in which event Mary Morgan Schettler, the first wife of the bankrupt, shall receive a bonus of about $10,000 out of the available assets. Mrs. Schettler has maintained, since the beginning of the trouble, that she has owned the six suits, the first wife of the bankrupt, and that the element of compromise transfer was not legally made until about a year ago. She claims to have had the formal papers in her possession since 1883. The value of the homestead and land has been appraised at $20,000, but she is willing, it is said, to relinquish the property, providing she gets $10,000, with which she hopes to be able to support her children. Another Proposition Made. The second proposition is that the creditors should receive the $20,000 now in the receiver's hands, and it is estimated they could thereby obtain easily 37 cents on the dollar, and possibly more, but the disposition of the majority of the creditors is that Schettler shall keep the property, the now claims to own, take over all the property, the bankrupt bank, and with one or more local banking institutions, shall receive at least 25 cents on the dollar, and withdraw all prosecutions, civil and criminal. Up to District Attorney. Assistant County Attorney John B. Lyon said last evening that so far as the receiver's office was concerned, the entire Schettler matter had gone beyond its jurisdiction. "We have no complaints filed by Mary Larsen, Tillie Smith and Caroline P. Thompson," said Mr. Lyon, "and the element of compromise transfer was not legally made until about a year ago. The value of the homestead and land has been appraised at $20,000, but she is willing, it is said, to relinquish the property, providing she gets $10,000, with which she hopes to be able to support her children. Would Compound Felony. Referring to the matter last night among attorneys it was the consensus of opinion that the element of compromise transfer would enter into the case of any effort to bring the creditors to withdraw the complaints. C. B. Stewart, who is the attorney for the creditors, said that he had many propositions were made weeks and months ago, but that the element of compromise transfer was not legally made until about a year ago. The value of the homestead and land has been appraised at $20,000, but she is willing, it is said, to relinquish the property, providing she gets $10,000, with which she hopes to be able to support her children.
